To whom it may concern,

I am a California resident and am very pleased to learn that the new Water Plan Update has a positive emphasis on sustainable practices and will be "less resource intensive". I think it is about time that we started looking at the big picture, thinking ahead and of other needs besides just us over consuming humans. Please DO NOT approve the building of any new dams or an increase to the height of existing dams. We have messed with nature enough, I'm sure you can come up with more harmonious and intelligent solutions. Thank you, Vanessa Lillie
